

Little ClichÃ©

Audiostrobelight

My reaction wasn't equal or opposite
My reaction was to take a longer sip
Of the cheapest stuff you can drink
I went outside to smoke and think
Your reaction was quiet and smart
 Entrancing and pure of heart
 I had the best intentions apprehensive circumvention

 It turned into awkward glances
Both of us seeking second chances made back from past mistakes
 And distractions we can't erase

 Late-night lead to day-drinking
But you pulled me outside that night
 To the most beautiful site
I know it's a little cliche to write this song
 But I had to get it outta my head
 I've been singin' it for so long

Emily, I'm so glad you're listening now
So close your eyes and hear my words

 A drunken conversation
Once in a lifetime occasion
 To meet someone like you
 I can relate to
 I love what we've become
 So far from numb
 That night changed my life

 So we didn't speak for 26 weeks but on the 27th one, something new had begun
 Finally comfortable in my skin
 I found someone to let me in
And I held you close and you pulled me closer Kissed me because the wait was over, and...

 Late-night lead to day-drinking

But you pulled me outside that night
To the most beautiful site
I know it's a little cliche to write this song
But I had to get it outta my head
I've been singin' it for so long

Emily, I'm so glad you're listening now
So close your eyes and hear my words

A drunken conversation
Once in a lifetime occasion
To meet someone like you
I can relate to
I love what we've become
So far from numb
That night changed my life

You are an example of great things yet to come
A reminder that life's not so bad
And patience is key
You make me want to be the best I can be
You are an example of great things yet to come
A reminder that life's not so bad
And patience is key
I'm so happy that you fell in love with me.

A drunken conversation
Once in a lifetime occasion
To meet someone like me
That you can relate to
I love what we've become
So dumb and in love.
That night changed our lives...
