Puppet Show

No Use for a Name

Looking, laughing, talking all your shit

Wondering if you live your life just so you can fit

Could it be real

Or you're a fake

Nobody's that way ... Give me a fucking break

No recognition is what we should give to people like this that tell me how to live

The ones who criticize, they gossip and they smile, the people that live the way that they decide

This is not a puppet show

No one in the world is hanging on a string

Take a look around, there are people everywhere

They might be doing circles but it's their own thing.
