

Arc of the Sun (live)

Assembly of Dust

make yourself at home we've been expecting you we've been waiting for you to arrive black and white images circling you and tracking the light from your eyes raising you high like the arc of the sun

you have arrived you have begun language is blue and lavender deeds and decades pass with dazzling speed the sun has come with blossom red clouds and almond shaped eyes from the sea

you have just begun
we've been expecting you
you have just begun
shake from your ankles summon your voice and introduce the trickle of time everything's new and turning a fresh and everything is always divine
