

Stain

Full Devil Jacket

Flowing down the mountain
Many broken streams
Hand full of twisted thoughts
Bottle full of needsFollow the sun down
Till I can't see your faceThere was more to this
Than making holes in my life
There was more to this
Than making holes in my eyesAlways in the back of my mind
Always taking somethingShe was a lying mother
I couldn't make her see
That all of this ain't nothing
It's just a part of meFollow the sun down
Till I can't see this placeThere was more to this
Than making holes in my life
There was more to this
Than making holes in my eyesI was pulling through
I was changing skin
The deeper the life you fool
The deeper the stain withinAlways in the back of my mind
Always taking something
Always always alwaysThere was more to this
Than making holes in my life
There was more to this
Than making holes in my eyesAnd I was pulling through
I was changing skin
The deeper the life you fool
The deeper the stain withinAlways in the back of my mind
