

Collide

The Head of a Girl

you penetrate my mind, closing the divide and everything iâ€™ve tried to leave it all behind. what i canâ€™t seem to find is a way to get inside. your words are so unkind, crushing all my pride.

listeningâ€™.

how long should i pine? i thought that you were mine. turns out that you lied. why did i confide? all the things i hide, i expose to you in time. ignoring all the signs; turn back or collide.

listeningâ€™.

all the things i hide. i expose to you in time. ignoring all the signs; turn back or collide. all the words you said, echo through my head: â€œcome back to my bed. without you iâ€™d be dead.â€• the flesh needs to be fed. the heart mislead. egos canâ€™t be shed. i choose myself instead.

listeningâ€™.
