Adhitia Sofyan

A man will climb the highest mountain
Fly to the moon and come back home
But I cannot live without your love
I stand up high in the pouring rain
Have flashing thunder on my head
But I still will not live without your love
Everybody can laugh at my face
Till Their jaws touched the ground
I will be counting the days till I can run to you
Rainfall will through and my work here is done
And I'll come home to you
A man swims the deepest ocean
Some will sail around the world
But I cannot live without your love
I'll stand alone on a cemetery
Search the world of the undead
But still I will not live without your love
I give a little more
I walk a little further
Fly a little higher
To get to you
