Laugh Now

Little Wings

they'll take me to the distance won't they, i hope they do when i'm down i ask you how they found a place for you and the will i wasted on them, and the breath i blew in due time will daylight dawn them, it will all come true broken in two by the life i've broken, but then i broke it for you hear it like a ??? from the words i've spoken, here cry cookoo dove my dove wont you lie down now while i love you go across the field like a light on the land now, like a breeze i blew laugh now you know i love you sing out like god above you i thought you were singing to me you've seen me god, and the things you've seen now that we live everywhere my brother, my sister too hands in your hair from your windy mother and the sky turns blue everyone will be my homely lover in a day brand new look into my eyes look at your eyes wonder with a gaze thats true i'm not the man they think i am at home now, since i've gone i've grew what was me i wonder, he was she was, so i seem like you i'm about to sing so i'll remember how i felt yahoo i'll recollect it all with a mind so limber i let it all come through so sleep now you know i love you sing soft like god above you i knew you were singing to me so i've seen your god and the breaths i breathe

Lyrics submitted by leo robinson.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/