Guarded

Guarding yourself from the love of another
Left you with nothing tonight
Why does it sound like the devil is laughing
Leaving me haunted tonight, you did decideNow I want you, when you're gone and now it's like
You're holding something just in front of me
Well then, I can't allow this to become another
One of those times that I'm left in the cold, dead
There's no compromise just another tie I know I need to severGuarding yourself from the love of another
Why does it sound like the devil is laughing
Leaving me haunted tonight, you did decideEver haunted, by the trappings of this life
Sweet redemption, just in front of me
Well now, it seems once again that I've lost another
One of the one's that have broke through the wall
Damned fate won't compromise, I have sold my soul
And now the devil's laughing, you did decideYou were bold and strong, and ready to begin your life
All for nothing, you were sacrificed
You began alone and so it will be when you die
All for nothing, will you be remembered? You did decideGuarding yourself from the love of another
So now you know why the devil is laughing
He left you with nothing tonight, you did decide
