In My Head

White Town

Should be enough to love someone
Just be happy they're alive
Do you have to know what they're doing
Like a job from nine to five
But the big bad wolf is coming
Singing 'he la la' what's new
He's going to blow our fragile house in
And run away with you
Oh won't you stay
Here for a day
In my head
And a walk is such a long way
When you have to get to her
An infinily of individual steps
Separates you from that girl
But the big bad wolf is coming
Singing 'he la la' what's new
He's going to blow our fragile house in
And run away with you
Oh won't you stay

Here for a day
In my head
All the things you tried to do
All those times you could never see it through Everything you thought that you knew
Melted away
Left you no truth
Should be enough to love someone
Just be happy she's alive
Do you have to know that she hates you
Like a job from nine to five
And every time you talk to her
She seems to like you less
Was it all a misunderstanding
Just a big elaborate test
But the big bad wolf is coming
Singing 'he la la' what's new
He's going to blow our fragile house in

And run away with you
Oh won't you stay
Here for a day
In my head
