

Wichita Falls Woman

Buddy Jewell

There's a rainbow painted on a sky of denim blue the sign says wichita falls texas twenty two heat rising off the highway reminds me of that hot mid summer day I first saw her faceShe was the kind of woman I could never hold and looking back i guess may be i should have known But if only for a moment it was worth the chance that i took with my heart there in her arms(Chorus)

There's a lot of things that if i could I'd change about my past
Tear that page out of my memory walk away and not look back
There's times i should have stood my ground and times I should have run
I'll have regrets when my life's said and done
But that wichita falls woman wont be one
Cant say that i wont have regrets when my life's said and done
But that wichita falls woman wont be oneI sip my cup of coffee staring at a map
In an all night diner waiting for the storm to pass
And every rain drop on the window reminds me of that cold december dawn
I found her goneAnd that old familiar feeling washes over me like a home sick sailor longing for the open sea
And I'm content to let it take me to a place back in my memory when it calls
Wichita falls(Chorus)

There's a lot of things that if i could I'd change about my past
Tear that page out of my memory walk away and not look back
There's times i should have stood my ground and times I should have run
I'll have regrets when my life's said and done
But that wichita falls woman wont be one
But that wichita falls woman wont be one
