

Icarus

The Nova Echo

a sudden burst of turbulence is clear a fire storm that fills your heart the loss of a loved one the scar cinders of a thousand burning stars

if you think this terminal spiral is enough to make this page in time stand still with a faint mechanical fusion you can feel like dying but your heart beats still and you feel more like a machine your senses deadened and you drift into your lonely android ways and you artificial smile is shorting out but you know you cant let your blood turn to dust

if you think this terminal spiral

we reset the system and try to hold on to the radio waves but we fell right through
