

Warding Off the Spirits

Neverending White Lights

Wake my body
I'm wondering what is mine
Summer once again
But winter always wins And now you find that you're losing your place
And so you give in and give up So I tell myself
I only wished us well
Life is all we know
But somehow not for sure All of the days we spend awake outside the grave
And here in the night I know this life will not end

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>