

Things Change

Spider Loc Feat. 50 Cent & Lloyd Banks

Separate me from...

Separate this...

Life is all, life is always tales of lost and living

I could almost feel the breath that you were almost giving

I could see the silence in the way that you were talking

I could leave the signs and sirens if I could ignore it

    Friday night, lose a little liberty

    Saturday night, lose a lot of money

    Sunday night, think about Friday

    On my life, things change

        Things change

        Things change

        Life is separated

        Things change

        Things change

        Almost every day

        In almost every way

Sights and sound of love is all that's left of modern living

Search for signs of life down alleyways of hidden cities

    Friday night, lose a bit of sympathy

    Saturday night, lose a lot of money

    Sunday night, think about Friday

    On my life, things change

        Things change

        Sights and sounds of modern living

I just can't do without the sights and sounds of modern living

        Things change

        Things change

        Things change

        Sights and sounds of modern living

        Sights and sounds I just can't do without

        Things change

        Almost every day

        In almost every day

        Sights and sounds of modern living

I just can't do without the sights and sounds of modern living

        I told the doctor, "Separate us"

        He warned us, "Both may not survive"

Things change

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>