Breathing

Anggun

I can't count
Stars in the sky
Or climb the mountains
I can't even swim all the seas
But I know
Absence is
Unfair
Nothing can replace what I miss
'Cause I'm breathing far away from you
And every second feels like thousands more without you
I'm breathing for this love to live
Believe that one day life will take me there beside you
Like
The North needs the South
The wind needs the clouds
To all of these reasons of life
I need you
To change the wrong
To become true
And to take me to where I belong
'Cause I'm breathing far away from you
And every second feels like thousands more without you
I'm breathing for this love to live
Believe that one day life will take me there beside you
I'm breathing
Breathing there beside you
There beside you
Breathing far away from you
And every second feels like thousands more without you
I'm breathing for this love to live
And I will keep believing one day life will take me beside you
Beside you
Life will take me beside you
