Reject

Necros

No one tastes like you Like you do And no one wastes me with their words like you do And no one can change my views And do you really think this crazy world will get better Do you really think I wanted this to fail? And do you really think this crazy world will get better No one tastes like you And nothing between us is assumed And no one can change the fact that I was sold on you No one wastes me with their words like you do I'm the reject that you never accepted I'm the reject that you never accepted I'm the reject that you always neglected Now I'm left wrecked and forever affected I miss all the things you knew There's nothing left to say and no more to lose There's no excuse There's nothing left to do And now when I'm all alone There's nothing else I can see There's nothing else I can be anymore [Thanks to fingeradrenaline@comcast.net for these lyrics]
