Faithless

Shattersphere

I'd search the world to find the key to my head
To understand the reasons why I can't be Alone for a moment without regretting every word
That has jumped off my tongue, confusing every oneMy arms can't hold back the loneliness
I've felt since I lost sight
My arms can't hold back what my hands
Have already deceivedAlready deceivedSo much is different
So much has changed
So many reasons why I don't want to see my face
Somebody bind my hands and make me understand...I try to remember just what happened on that night
The things I did, the things I said, it never ends
It's like this face that lay beside me just won't leave it stays right by my side and never goes awayMy arms can't hold back the loneliness
I've felt since I lost sight
My arms can't hold back what my hands
Have already deceivedAlready DeceivedSo much is different
So much has changed
So many reasons why I don't want to see my face
Somebody bind my hands and make me understand...I don't want to understand....

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/