

Hollywood

Angus & Julia Stone

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

I blame you Hollywood
For showing me things you never should
Show a young girl in this cruel world Because life's not a happy ending
I'm sure there is some like Johnny and June
Maybe other people too They all would have been killed in the sound of music
They would have found out
That Pinocchio could never tell the truth She wouldn't have made it to shore the little mermaid
He would have married a whore from a wealthy family
After all he wasn't royalty Cinderella would have scrubbed those floors
Till her hands grew old and tired and nobody would look away
That's the way it goes today I blame you Hollywood
For showing me things you never should
Show a young girl in this cruel world Because life's not a happy ending
I'm sure there is some like Johnny and June
And maybe other people too And maybe other people too
And maybe other people too
And maybe other people too
And maybe other people too like me and you
