

A Hard Secret to Keep

Mark Chesnutt

I stay up late and read a lot at night
Lately she's begun to wonder why
She don't know I'm scared that I'll start talking in my sleep
You're a hard secret to keep And every time she asks me where I've been A cheaters paranoia begins
Scrambling for an answer anything she might believe
You're a hard secret to keep One slip of the tongue's all it would take
Just one little note that I forgot to throw away
The slightest trace of make-up on a shirt that won't come clean
You're a hard secret to keep I never meant for you to touch my heart
I never meant to take one night this far
How much longer can I live this double life I lead?
You're a hard secret to keep
