Remain Silent

Dru Hill

I know you're wondering why I pulled ya over
'Cause you're doin' eighty five down the wrong way
So I know it ain't so bad
And though I hate to do it, girl, I'm gonna have to arrest ya
So won't you get up out ya car
Assume the position so I can search ya
I promise I won't hurt ya
You have the right to remain silent
Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love
You have the right to remain silent
Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love
I'm not gonna build your hopes and baby, let you post bail
I'm gonna keep your body locked up in a cell
Have it all night, girl, interrogation
Baby, hold on tight 'cause I'm gon' wrap this case up
I'll set the rules and you'll abide
No room for public defenders, you're all mine
You've been accused of a love affair
So baby, close your eyes, I'll take you there
You have the right to remain silent

Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love
You have the right to remain silent
Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love
Put your hands up, assume the position
This is a strip search and you're under my submission
You're a [Incomprehensible] fugitive and I'm the bounty hunter
I usually wear a badge but tonight I'm undercover
Put your hands up, assume the position
This is a strip search and you're under my submission
You're a [Incomprehensible] fugitive and I'm the bounty hunter
I usually wear a badge but tonight I'm undercover
You have the right to remain silent
Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love
You have the right to remain silent
Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love
You have the right to remain silent
Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love
You have the right to remain silent

Anything you say can be held against you in this court of love

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/