

December

Atomic Opera

There's an open fire in the doors of doubt
And it clears my eyes to find my way out
There's a beginning in every end
There's an hourglass that's full of sand
And I spend my time wishing it away
There's a feeling that I can't explain
There's a joy I long to believe again
Then confusion takes my hand
And it leads me to where I've already been
And I spend my days
Wishing things would change
She said she would never leave
The promise of love
(She leaves me)
Her arms release me standing in December
Her magic frees me standing in December
There's an open fire in the gift of love
A silent season surrounding us
I'm standing here alone
Between the arms of love
And being on my own
And the shortest path was never a straight line
She said she would never leave
The promise of love
(She leaves me)
Her arms release me standing in December
Her magic frees me standing in December
And now I'm feeling strange
And everything is change
She said she would never leave
The promise of love
(She leaves me)
Her arms release me standing in December
Her magic frees me standing in December

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>