

She Said

CherryCase

Iâ€™ve begun to hate you, itâ€™s now my place
How can an angel and a liar have the same face
Iâ€™m breathing in and lord youâ€™re breathing out
Watching fibs make their way to my heart to wear me down
Howâ€™s the ever falling rain, fall on me today and make me whole
Did the ice within your smile melt while we slept awhile
Or am I wrong
Was I really that important to deserve a single song
Am I really that important to you at all
Or did your faith in me fumble within the passing year
Am I really the one for you my dear

And folks scream shoot me
Cause I can hardly tell the difference in life or death
With this lack of providence
And I may not bleed for the pain I feel is far from the flesh
More than you could guess
And donâ€™t you ever call my name Iâ€™ll forget you and this pain
And Iâ€™ll be gone
I hope the ice can heal your bruises, Iâ€™ll smile, what am I losing After all
