

The Curtain Falls

Kevin Spacey

Off comes the makeup,
Off comes the clown's disguise
The curtain's falling, the music softly dies
But I hope you're smiling as you're filing out the door
As they say in this biz that's all there is,
There isn't any more
We've shared our moment
And as the moment ends
I've got a funny feeling we're parting now as friends
Your cheers and laughter will linger after they've torn down these dusty walls
If I had this to do again
I would spend it with you again...
People say I was made for this
Nothing else would I trade for this and just think I get paid for this ..
Good night
Ladies and gentlemen and God love you

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>