

Black Jacket

Tim McGraw

I remember how it felt, we were sitting on the roof
You were in my black jacket, drinking up the view
We were Romeo and Juliet
Smoking like cigarettes all night long
Counting yellow cabs, we were showing tattoos
On top of the world, we had nothing to lose
Falling like snowflakes, crashing down at your place
What went wrong?

If I see you out tonight
You'll think I'm doing alright cause you can't see
What's underneath this black jacket is a broken heart
And I never take it off, cause I just can't hang it up
It's too torn apart, this black jacket hides a broken heart

I still use your umbrella when I'm walking in the rain
I can't help but crack a smile every time I hear a train
I never got your music til you left and made me use it
Just to keep you around, it's a small world town

If I see you out tonight
You'll think I'm doing alright cause you can't see
What's underneath this black jacket is a broken heart
I never take it off, cause I just can't hang it up
It's too torn apart, this black jacket hides a broken heart

One I'm gonna take it off, send it up in flames
I won't even hear it when somebody says your name
Nothing left to hide, I won't even hurt
Yeah I'll be alright in a white tee shirt but
If I see you out tonight

If I see you out tonight
You'll think I'm doing alright cause you can't see
What's underneath this black jacket is a broken heart
I never take it off, cause I just can't hang it up
It's too torn apart, this black jacket hides a broken heart
