Lay Low

Pegasus

Now I see you laying on the floor
And I know that I could kill you
If I really wanted to
And I do remember all the things
That you planted in my brain
For me to live in vainGunfire echoes in my head
Empires that you built are deadYou better lay low, you better lay low
You better just run, run, run
Where you came from
You better lay low, you better lay low
You better just run, run, run
Where you came from
And you are just the kind of a friend
That turned into an enemy
You'll never be the same to meDesire turned into shame
Inspired, I danced inside your flameYou better lay low, you better lay low
You better just run, run, run
Where you came from
You better lay low, you better lay low
You better just run, run, run
Where you came fromI caught you slipping thru the bars
Like a thief in the night
You thought you'd run away
But I always had you in my sight
A grazing shot in the dark
And now you're on the floor
I'll put an end to the war
You better lay low, you better lay low
You better just run, run, run
Where you came from
You better lay low, you better lay low
You better just run, run, run
Where you came from
