

You Don't Belong

Daughtry

With time to kill and an empty tomb
I always find a way to pass the time with you
Dark and smoky rooms, I can hardly stand the fumes
Telling me that you mean no harm
You stand me up like a crutch, another arm
But only when I'm gone have I been away too long
No, you don't belong to me, I think you lied to me
And with my back against this wall, it's hard to be strong
No, you'd tell me anything, look what you've done to me
Still I tell myself that tomorrow you'll be long gone, whoa whoa
Any given time or place I never will forget the disgrace on
Your face so full of love, will it ever be enough?
10 feet tall and bullet proof, I never thought that I had a thing to lose
Well, it looks like after all I'm gonna have to choose
No, you don't belong to me, I think you lied to me
(Against the wall)
And with my back against this wall, it's hard to be strong
No, you'd tell me anything, look what you've done to me
(You don't belong)
Still I tell myself that tomorrow you'll be long gone
You help pass the time, but I'm doing fine on my own
So there's no good reason why to live such a lie
Tell me have I been gone away too long?
No, you don't belong to me, I think you lied to me
(Against the wall)
And with my back against this wall, it's hard to be strong
No, you'd tell me anything, look what you've done to me
(You don't belong)
Still I tell myself that tomorrow you'll be long gone
You don't belong to me, I think you lied to me
(Against the wall)
And with my back against this wall it's hard to be strong
You'd tell me anything, look what you've done to me
(You don't belong)
Still I tell myself that tomorrow you'll be long gone, long gone

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>