Darkness Embedded

Divine Heresy

Open up the door to our room lined with darkness
A broken man sits and waits
As the razor separates the skin
He bleeds out the sin but the wounds heal
What was drained out grows back againSkin so white, pry back the porcelain
To reveal the flesh
Forever darkness, you will not
Make it through this night againStains on his hands
Left from all the poison bled within Collecting at his feet
Drowning so far in all the regret of what was done
So lost in this, the soul is gone, the sacrificeSkin so white, pry back the porcelain
To reveal the flesh
Forever darkness, you will not
Make it through this night again, againRise up from the blood that spilled
For memories of all you lost here
The life you gave Rise up from the blood that spilled
For memories of the life you left behind
The sacrificeSkin so white, pry back the porcelain
To reveal the flesh
Forever darkness, you will not
Make it through this night again, againSo rise up from the blood that has spilled
For memories of the life you left behind
So rise up from the blood that has spilled
For resurrection, the one you sacrificed

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/