

Scenario

Attrition

Coming up this evening
Only drumming up a demon for me
Loving my libido, show me
Tell me what I don't know In this scenario
There's something you should know
In this scenario
There's something you should know
I'm sure I didn't catch your name
Queueing up to see you
Falling, falling on casino floors
And we broke about even
Only something we agreed on In this scenario
There's something you should know
In this scenario
There's something you should know
I'm sure I didn't catch your name Summoning up reasons
Surely take me down for treason
Call me, try for this season
Only tell me when you're feeling lonely
In this scenario
There's something you should know
In this scenario
There's something you should know
In this scenario
In this scenario
