Living In a Movie

Enchant

Forgot my alarm, I overslept again
Had to shave in a hurry, almost cut off my chin
Slipped in the bathtub, I think I broke my neck
My car's out of gas, I forgot to check
Going nowhere fast, what the heckSometimes it feels like I'm living in a movie
Acting out a story that's not my own
There's drama and action and random acts of tragedy
I don't want to be in this starring roleI got to work late, my boss chewed me out
Called me irresponsible, cleaned my desk out
Stopped by the hospice, said bye to a friend
Found out I had cancer, only six months to live
What's the joke? I giveSometimes it feels like I'm living in a movie
Acting out a story that's not my own
There's drama and action and random acts of tragedy
I don't want to be in this starring roleI can't believe it
Bad things are always happening to me
Serenity, achieve it
Maybe it's not as bad as it seemsPulled over for speeding, I wasn't in the mood
Got sprayed with mace, had a bad attitude
Talked to my wife, she'd understand
Said she was leaving, found a better man
How can this be? I don't understandSometimes it feels like I'm living in a movie
Acting out a story that's not my own
There's drama and action and random acts of tragedy
I don't want to be in this starring roleSometimes it feels like I'm living in a movie
Sometimes it feels like I'm living in a movie
I don't want to be in this starring role
