On My Side

In My Eyes

Expectations that I built up
Now finally come to light
So naive because I never thought
So many could lose sight
I reached out to grab a hold
But you passed me by
Was it worth a try?
I just tried to laugh it off
But it's not that cheap to me
I just wish you'd see
I know the past
Is set in stone
So I live for what's ahead
My intentions never missed a beat
On the path I lead
Not concerned with others faults I can't fix
It's hard enough to keep yourself in check
I put my hopes in the ones I trust
There's too many on my side to just let go
