

Secrets

Maria Mena

There's a room inside your gut
Close the door and keep it shut
Let no daylight enter in
And the punishment begin Who are you now to decide
Whether or not I can
Be exposed to what you hide
Just be a strong and silent man But every wrong turn that you make will also be my mistake
Cos we're connected through our hearts
And the devastating part is that I foolishly defended you to myself
But secrets always have a way of coming out. I'm beginning now to see
What you must have thought of me
In a body cast of glass
Life-changing information should just pass. But I don't break that easily
And if you'd dare then you would see
That I've been carrying all the weight
Of the burdens on your plate. But every wrong turn that you make will also be my mistake
Cos we're connected through our hearts
And the devastating part is that I foolishly defended you to myself
But secrets always have a way of coming out. But every wrong turn that you make will also be my mistake
Cos we're connected through our hearts
And the devastating part is that I foolishly defended you to myself
But secrets always have a way of coming out There's a room inside your gut
Close the door and keep it shut
Let no daylight enter in
And the punishment begin Who are you now to decide
Whether or not I can
Be exposed to what you hide
Just be a strong and silent man But every wrong turn that you make will also be my mistake
Cos we're connected through our hearts
And the devastating part is that I foolishly defended you to myself
But secrets always have a way of coming out. I'm beginning now to see
What you must have thought of me
In a body cast of glass
Life-changing information should just pass. But I don't break that easily
And if you'd dare then you would see
That I've been carrying all the weight
Of the burdens on your plate. But every wrong turn that you make will also be my mistake
Cos we're connected through our hearts
And the devastating part is that I foolishly defended you to myself

But secrets always have a way of coming out. But every wrong turn that you make will also be my mistake
Cos we're connected through our hearts
And the devastating part is that I foolishly defended you to myself
But secrets always have a way of coming out

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>