This Pain

Kamelot

Pushing for the limit of sanity
Pushing for the surface
So I can breathe
Dark is the night for all of us
But some days
I can feel the sun crawling down these jagged walls
Blessed sunlightSome of this pain is sole subjected
But what was I supposed to do
Some of this pain will always stay
Deep and trueI left her with a warning
Without protection
The human nature has it's ways with lust
With her back against the wall
She crumbled
Just a minute more would have saved her life
And even so.. part of me
Blessed sunlightSome of this pain is sole subjected
But what was I to do
Some of this pain will always stay
Deep and trueI see her shame in my desire
It all took place too soon
Some of these wounds will always bleed
Over you over you
