Brilliant Creatures

Marc Almond

I lost you in the great big city
You gave me your number
But fate, she closed her eyes
And the wind blew it away
I know you're sometimes at a bar
But I can't recall the name
You could have called
I'm sure you have a story
And you're not to blameIn time the tears will come
And the memory of you will hurt inside
I know life must go on
And I won't see you againAnd life goes...
Oh oh oh
Oh, oh oh oh
I'll cry tomorrow baby
Oh oh oh
Oh, oh oh oh
But tonight I'm gonna danceBrilliant creatures
We were brilliant creaturesBitterness is a pure feeling
Makes me feel that life's worth living
And when the pain becomes too much
I'll turn and walk awayJust standing in the rain
I'll take the romance of the night
I'm not gonna waste my time
I've got a life to liveAnd life goes...
Oh oh oh
Oh, oh oh oh
I'll cry tomorrow baby
Oh oh oh
Oh, oh oh oh
But tonight I'm gonna danceAm I still in your heart
Or do I shed my tears for nothing
Do you think of me at all
Tell me that it all means something
I could wait for you to call
But when tomorrow never seems to come
I'll close my heart to you
Promises, I've heard them all beforeOutside the snow is falling
In my heart a voice is calling

Time to end the story
Turn and walk away
Remember that we were brilliant creatures
Flaming creatures
For a fleeting moment in a dream
And life goes on

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/