Falling Down

Ben Jelen

At a stoplight in the middle of the night
Stuck in first and I wonder if I should stay
The right is history and to my left the choice is right
But this seems a little bit too hard
And all the questions come running through my mind
Will I see this another way?
The simple truth is I'm falling, falling down
And I don't want to drag her through the bottom
And then she says, "Sit in front of me, turn around you'll see
I'm everything you'd want, all you'd ever need
Come back into my world, you know I'm always yours"
And she makes so much sense when she says, "Don't throw this away"
It's hard to know what's real when it all seems wrong
But I promise you I'll find what's going on
I just need to follow the sun before I'll know if I'll see this another way
The simple truth is I'm falling, falling down
And I don't want to drag you through the bottom

And then you say, "Sit in front of me, turn around you'll see
I'm everything you'd want, all you'd ever need
Come back into my world, you know I'm still your girl"
And she makes so much sense when she says,"Don't throw this away"
Isabell, she treads so lightly, floating in her gypsy dresses
Even as her words cuts deep, I can't deny the truth in them
On the phone she talks a lot, and me I listen hopelessly
So directionless, I head into oblivion
And then I decide to give another random memory
To remind her of the first time we sang out to the sea
Oh Isabell, you always understood me
Please Isabell, forgive me now
And all the questions come running through my mind
Will I see this another way?
The simple truth is I'm falling, falling down
And I don't want to drag you through the bottom
No, I don't want to drag you through the bottom
