

Last Summertime's Obsession

Trembling Blue Stars

I found my home now I'm back to drifting
I miss the feeling she gave me of belonging
If I was only going to lose it
In a way I wish I'd never known it I still want someone that I can't have
But now it's someone that I once had It no longer matters that I'll never Kiss the lips, hold the hand
Of last summer's constant companion
Of last summertime's obsession It's the touch of a different hand I'm missing
Lips I've kissed already that I want to be kissing

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>