

Undefeated

No Use for a Name

I see you have lost the ambition to love Things are good today When did you get so hard and callous? But I think I've had enough Here comes the part where you turn off the switch Victory claimed, this is your song
Everyone's dumb, Taking the wind out of your sails How will you sleep when you're alone, when they are gone? Over and over just like a broken toy You pedal back for miles, just to claim your prize Heard all excuses, what makes you do it? He is the exit, to your home built on lies Nothing is true Cannot be taught, everyone's hurt, nothing is learned. How can you expect them to stay? Undefeated, who did you burn?
