

Names and Dates and Times

Ani DiFranco

I know so many white people
I mean, where do I start?
The trouble with white people
Is you can't tell them apart I'm so bad with names
And dates and times
But I'm big on faces
That is, except for mine I believe you when you tell me
We've met before
This time you've got my interest
This time you've got the floor Why don't you go and tell me something
I don't already know
Give me something to remember you by
When I go I eat too much
I laugh too long
Maybe I'll like too much of you
When I'm gone Let's go over to the window
And sit in the neon light
Let's go out walking
You know, it's garbage night Let's go down to the east river
And throw something in Something we can't live without
And then let's start again The more you talk
The more I get
The sense of something
That hasn't happened yet The more you talk
The more I want to know
The way I'll remember you
When I go I eat too much
I laugh too long
Maybe I'll like too much of you
When I'm gone I am so many white people
I mean where do I start
I've got lots of personalities
I just can't tell them apart And I never remember anything
Except for those things
Which I never forget you know
There's no in between I'm big on your face
Yeah, it's big in my mind
You're like the rest of the human race

You're one of a kind
