To Take the Black

The Sword

Cast out from the lands of their births
Banished from hearth and home
All brothers must swear the oath
Forsaking all they've ever knownIf you choose to take the black Bid farewell to comforts great and small
Those who do don't come back
Prepare yourself for life on the wallNight gathers and the watch begins
The wind carries an unnatural chill
There are things beyond the northern borders
Mere steel can't killMen who choose to take the black Rogues and rangers, one and all
Those who do won't come back
Prepare yourself for life on the wallPrepare yourself for life on the wall
Prepare yourself

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/