Miss U.S.A.

The Nixons

Only time, only keeps you up at night
You're just getting older, nature is holding Gravity is giving wayMiss USA, don't you always get your way
Need more eyes to behold, flowers to hold on
Kingdom queen for a dayMiss USA
I'll be alright, you'll be okay
And we're bound to see another dayMiss USA knows exactly what to say
And it's the world that she's holding
Selling her soul, she says
"Where do I sign my name?"Miss USA
I'll be alright, you'll be okay
And we're bound to see another dayWhat does the beauty mean on the inside
Only here beneath the eye
Only a little bit older
The eyes of your beholder will shineOnly time, you'd always catches you in time
And this world don't need saving
Eat what you're craving
You have already had your dayMiss USA
I'll be alright, you'll be okay
And we're bound to see another dayMiss USA
I'll be alright, you'll be okay
And we're bound to see another day
