Well it's late at night and I'm driving her home
She lye's sleeping, on my arm
Well the wind blows through, her long blonde hair
She's an angel with an innocent stare.

Cause when you love her, you can't stand to be without her
When your love for her is blind.

There's been so many nights and so many dreams
Keeps you flashing to her memory, goes on forever it seems

Cause when you love her, can't stand to be without her
When your love for her is blind.

Night time leaves you restless,
Keeps you searching for the dawn
Night-time leaves you spellbound
Trying to find a home
You keep searching for the picture
Stranded there in time, put you right back there, by her side

When your love for her is blind
