

Canvas of Life

Epica

A thousand signs declined
That traveled through light
Translate this mystery
That covered my eyes
Accept approaching fear
And courage appears
Death is a certainty
It's growing near Letting go is fateful uniting broken rhymes
That visions divide
Painting my memories
That colored my life Somewhere safe and sheltered
Saved forever Stuck in the light of day
Waiting for answers
A seed that grew into branches
Another page has turned, ending a letter
Come on home and return to the canvas of life Shapes and boundaries
Will not disappear
Detangle the misery
And enter new spheres Facing right and wrong
While waiting for life
Can't change this destiny
The curtain's close by While your leaves descended
Earth starts to unfold Stuck in the light of day
Waiting for answers
A seed that grew into branches
Another page has turned, ending a letter
Come on home and return to the canvas of life You're falling down
While my fortune's alive
We're safe and sound on the ground
Turned to found new memories The stains come alive where the paint has gone dry
You float above looking down reaching out to me
Depicting a beautiful scene that shapes divinity Stuck in the light of day
Waiting for answers
A seed that grew into branches
Another page has turned, ending a letter I'll come home
I'm in the light of day
Questions were answered
A new life's arms are extending
The final page has turned, sending the letter

Come on home
And I'll sing you the song that has painted your canvas of life
