

Forever's End

Jason Crabb

Forever's End
The final part is over now
The healing part is finally started
The truth is told
The wound was cold as ice
The scars that heal grow back even stronger.
We've been apart for way too long
The painful path that we've been on is at a crossroads
Meet me at forever's end
We'll find new love again when the walls of time grow paper thin, Meet me there, at forever's end
Cause there we can begin to knock down the walls and turn a new page
At forever's end
A side of you I never knew before,
The time between us has revealed it
The stormy days and nights we used to know without the tears we shared oh can you feel it? Here with you inside my heart. The journeys far beyond the stars, I believe it..
Meet me at forever's end
We'll find new love again
Where the walls of time grow paper thin, Meet me there, at forever's end
Cause there we can begin to knock down the walls and turn a new page
At forever's end
Let the cards of time fall for giving up and going all the way, but I refuse to give it up and let you feel the shame.
at forever's end
We'll find new love again
where the walls of time grow paper thin, Meet me there, at forever's end
It's there we can begin to knock down the walls and turn a new page
At forever's end
For there we can begin to knock down the walls and turn a new page at forever's end

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>