Simple Minds

Descended from a world of darkened places,
Descended from a world that's lost control,
Suspended between time and fractured places,
I'm waiting for the fall here on my own. Please take me down where the rain drops,
Please take me down, down below.
Please hold me here where the dreams stop,
Please leave me here on my own. It was fate that took me down into the place,
I want to cross the borders of control.
Take me to the shrine that's in your basement,
And hold me in that place I'll lose it all. So please take me down where the rain drops,
Please take me down so far below.
Come take me down to where my dream stops.
I don't know where else I can go.
