Temple In the Storm

Seventh Wonder

Your waiting is over for now
The damage is done
The will to resist You has gone
Enter nightfallThe moon watches over the world
Blind to the eye
That's still looking over what's mine
In the twilightWalking through the door
The light so cold
It strikes my back and chills thisBlood that sees me through Until I sleep, with You behind my eyesI'll be there
I'll be Your own
I'll be Your temple in the storm
With every word and every day
In a world of manyThe streetlight is calling my name
The game has begun
You stand in it's spotlight so run
I'm behind YouYou smile at the world as I hide
With tears in my eyes
By now You must know my surprise
Is inside YouNothing feels the same
I feel the shame for what I've done to YouI'll be there
I'll be Your own
I'll be Your temple in the storm
With every word and every day
In a world of many cares

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/