Dusk

The Banner

you arms that take your arms invertebrate venomous,constricting and cold blood warms to life tongue flickers in time vibrations awaken your soul the mind sheds away you circle, break,swerve and stay you stare so deep ,you rise so tall you gently sway,your silhouette writhes and plays its poison up on the wall drumming hearts they sync and then slow you whisper songs of peace and of home whisper promise though don't show what you see when those black diamonds stare straight through to me flicker in time gently entwine daggers slide sharper than pain rise up,around liquid and vapor a warmth that creeps up through my veins now is your time and ive walked this line while you slid down deep in my soul i fade away as you breathe your song heavy and i take my show on the road slide on black racer,slide on.
