

I Felt I Knew Her

Roses Are Red

As night falls, your words are ringing above all
And now the summer rain is gone
Pawn the photos on your wall I'm standin' in the same place that you left me
Where I'll stay until you find your way back here again
Everything that I wish I could say to you
Fell between the skies we stare into So promise me, you'll tell me everything tonight
And if this ink ever runs dry
Maybe you'll fail and wonder why I'm standin' in the same place that you left me
Where I'll stay until you find your way back here again
Everything that I wish I could say to you
Fell between the skies we stare into [Incomprehensible]
