Distance

DISTANCE
by Ameet Kanon

One time for Falling real slow
Two times for letting my fears go
Three times for the afterglow really though I swear I feel your presence everywhere I go.

I close my eyes, damn, visions appearing. Smiling to myself cause I can't help the reminiscing ohhhhhh no
You got me twisted. Why can't I just let something good happen with no questions ohhhhh no

It's human nature they said. Manifest and embrace all of the beauty they said, and it's true... You know I know it. I'm just scared to lose you and I'm not afraid to show it soooo
Let's get to feeling. Right here right now is all we got, no future plans or limits to this love. You got a due date?
We know distance is coming but let's cross that bridge another day, please.
Please do it for me. Please let your vibrance and your essence be the only thing I see when you're in front of me.
No dates no numbers, No planes no busses. Just two minds, one soul, breathing to the same pulse, in love.
Just let it happen.
oh If there's one thing that you should never forget, oh itâ€™s that we can handle it.

And I guess all I was was distracted, took a sip of the world in my handsÂ
Never worried about what might happen if he'd walk in and see that I'd move on and on and on
But little did we know I'm right back where I started
And as hard as it may be, for me to comprehend this distance I still love him. And all that it took was one dream for me to know it to know it, to know it, to know to know to knowâ€¦

So 2 weeks became 6 months then 6 months became a year and before I even knew it we were numb to all our fears see we got comfortable.
We got used to using distance as the reason for our distance see the light in me was missing when you left.
I started Counting down the days I started planning out the way I'd pick you up right off the plane at LAX.
Cuz our chemistry is viral just can't wait at the arrival, running straight to you is vital damn time flies.
So They say that distance makes the heart grow fonder. I needed to grow this fond of you, just to know that it was true you're unconditional baby, and all I wanted was to love you, and to trust you.
But if there's one thing that you should never forget, ooooo it's that we can handle it.
