

31 Floors

The Higher

Step back

We all need a little bit of space

And really can you trust that and leave it up to me in any other way

Oh, we fell exhaled and now we'll watch the sunrise

If it's right this control is golden like the sunlight

Make your move

She fell from the 31st floor and wanting more, oh no one saw her move

Isn't that a great surprise? And doesn't that make you

You know you're just so sure of wanting more, but nobody has a clue

You party with a secret smile, doesn't that give you

This taste is bitter except when you're finished all done and lying in bed

This isn't too selfish, right?

This isn't right

Step back

We all need a little bit of space

And really can you trust that and leave it up to me in any other, in any other way

She fell from the 31st floor and wanting more, oh no one saw her move

Isn't that a great surprise? And doesn't that make you

You know you're just so sure of wanting more, but nobody has a clue

You party with a secret smile, doesn't that give you

This taste is bitter except when you're finished all done and lying in bed

This isn't too selfish, right?

Make your move

Make your move

Make your move, whoa

Make your move

She fell from the 31st floor and wanting more, oh no one saw her move

Isn't that a great surprise? And doesn't that make you

You know you're just so sure of wanting more, but nobody has a clue

You party with a secret smile, doesn't that give you

This taste is bitter except when you're finished all done and lying in bed

This isn't too selfish, right?

Make your move, whoa

Lyrics submitted by charlene.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>