I Felt Free

Circa Survive

Nothing new to say Nothing to report 'cause the future happened yesterdayIf I could tell the truth I could make you stay but forever seems so far awayI fell apart in your arms for the last time And I felt free to do what I want because of the things you told me, because of the things you told me, you told me I felt freeYou could be the end of me Too many shades of gray It's just another pointless game that we playI couldn't tell the truth I'll never make you stay because tomorrow always happens yesterdayI fell apart in your arms for the last time And I felt free to do what I want because of the things you told me because of the things you told me, you told me I felt freeI felt freeI will learn to live again for now I'm breaking all the things I couldn't mend without escaping I will learn to love again I will learn to love I will learn

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/