

July 15th

Ben Kenobi

On my way home, I saw a vision of the streets I grew up

I had an epiphany that I could not go back there
And would be here till I die

A vision of you lingered on
Now loses shimmering light
Start walking again talking to myself
Let the memory go away
But other things were coming to my head

=====

Years ago

There were my friends who played music with me
In a band practice room called 'Event'

No brand amps and drums, awkward sound and noise
But I want to be there
Cause it don't matter how it sounds if we feel the sound

Start playing again, singing to myself
Let's just go, let yourself go
Down this road, but there's no one to share this feeling

=====

My friends are gone and nowhere to be found
The Scene has changed long ago
What remains on my mind shows where I am bound
Please don't tell me I'll be walking this road alone Walk on

Where my memory falls apart
There's no need to stumble around

Where a daydream fades away
But I walk on

My friends are long gone and nowhere to be found
The Scene has changed long ago
What remains on my mind shows where I am bound
Please don't tell me I'll be walking this road alone

Lyrics submitted by singuya.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>