

Another Perfect Day

Fates Warning

You tell me you love me and I wonder why
The sun is overhead, but I cant see past the clouds in my eye
You show me what is real and I just pretend
Another perfect day and I wonder how it all will end
Another perfect day and I will hide away
From all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day and I will walk away
From all the light that surrounds
Shadows embrace this room
As I draw the shades tight
Close the curtains, shut out the day
Shut out the light
Another perfect day and I will hide away
From all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day and I will walk away
From all the light that surrounds
Lying awake again, restless in this bed
Summer night whispers soft
But I cant sleep through the noise in my head
Soon the sun is rising and I just descend
Another perfect day and I wonder when it all will end
Another perfect day and I will hide away
From all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day and I will walk away
From all the light that surrounds
Another perfect day for me to hide away
From all the sights and sounds
Another perfect day for me to walk away
From all the light that surrounds
